

The Role of the In-House Counsel

24 November 2022

12.00pm to 2.00pm

VIA WEBINAR

Brian Doherty's presentation will cover the work of the LSRA generally with a focus on the complaints function and the in-house practitioner.

Amy Heffron BL will speak about Section 15 Orders (Section 15, Criminal Justice Act 2011) and the Protected Disclosures (Amendment) Act 2022.

Maedhbh Clancy Of Counsel with Arthur Cox will speak on the importance and benefits of a knowledge management system for the in-house practitioner.

Brian Doherty is the Chief Executive Officer of the Legal Service Regulatory Authority, the body charged with the regulation of legal professionals in the State and the maintenance and improvement of standards of legal services. Brian holds a master's in criminology and Criminal Justice Management from Queens University Belfast and a Doctorate in Criminology from the University of Portsmouth.

Amy Heffron BL is a member of the Law Library, practicing as a Barrister-at-law since qualifying in 2017. She has general practice, specialising in criminal law. She formally worked as a Judicial Assistant to a Judge of the Circuit Court. She is the current Secretary of the Irish Criminal Bar Association and sits on the Criminal State Bar Committee. She is the author of a quarterly article in the Irish Criminal Law Journal. She is on the tutoring panel for the Honourable Society of Kings Inns. Until recently, she was a lecturer in the Business Department of CCT College Dublin covering the Corporate Governance module.

Maedhbh Clancy is Of Counsel with Arthur Cox LLP. She leads the professional support lawyer function for its banking and finance, debt capital markets and financial regulation teams, and has specialist expertise in each of those areas. She advises the firm and its clients on legal, regulatory and market developments; consults on complex transactions; creates and delivers bespoke training programmes; and implements other strategic initiatives in the area of knowledge, learning and development. Having previously worked in-house, she also sits on several industry committees, contributes to industry publications, and edits both Twomey on Partnership (2nd ed., Bloomsbury Professional, 2019) and Bloomsbury Professional's monthly Irish Banking and Finance Law Update.
